

ATM Transaction Monitoring

Transforming security, accountability, and evidence collection at the ATM

Cennox can connect customers to a powerful service for financial institutions, AI-powered Transaction Monitoring at the ATM. This cloud based solution enhances security, reduces fraud-related costs, and simplifies the investigation process across your entire ATM network.

With our advanced video monitoring solution, banks and ATM operators now have real-time and historical access to comprehensive, timestamped footage for every ATM transaction. Leveraging A.I. technology, our system records:

- A clear facial capture of the user as they approach the ATM
- A secondary video angle focused on the moment cash is dispensed and removed
- Integrated transaction meta data, including timestamps and withdrawal information

This integrated approach provides irrefutable, high-quality evidence that's instantly accessible, saving countless hours of administrative time typically required to investigate incidents of fraud or theft.

Fraud investigations made fast & efficient

Financial institutions often face high costs and delays when attempting to verify ATM transaction disputes or criminal activity. Our AI-powered system simplifies this process:

- Pinpoint exact users and transactions with time-synced video and transaction data
- Reduce administrative burden and reliance on separate security systems
- Provide your security teams or law enforcement with clear, exportable evidence in minutes, not days

This integrated approach provides irrefutable, high-quality evidence that's instantly accessible, saving countless hours of administrative time typically required to investigate incidents of fraud or theft.
